Fall Programs Serve the Community

KHAC sponsored Artists fanned out into the Community to bring art to kids; Aryn McCandless led different groups each Tuesday after school at the Pleasant Ridge Library for her drop-in Ms.Aryn's Art Club. Sister Mary Joan Schimian provided art projects at the Hilltop-Eagle View Apartment on Fridays after school. Ross Schlemmer moved from Summer Camp teaching on the KHAC campus to teach after-school programs for Pleasant Ridge Elementary School students hosted by the Pleasant Ridge Presbyterian Church and at Silverton Paideia. These two "Art Connections" classes were sponsored by the YMCA. On the KHAC campus, Aryn designed and led weekly classes for Home Schoolers. Natalie Hager introduced Older Adults to the fun of paper making projects they could take home. Ross guided tiny tots ages 5-7 to the fun and challenge of art projects keyed to their little hands.

Thank you!

14 Volunteers from Ethicon Endo spread over our Arts Center grounds last month in a huge fall cleanup session indoors and out. Weeds and construction debris filled huge trash bags. We are now ready for fall classes!

Directors Elected to KHAC Board

Last month, two new directors were elected to the KHAC Board, their terms of office to begin January 1, 2008.

Lydia Morgan has been a Board Advisor since the birth of KHAC in 2003, and is a long-time KH resident. She is a retired 5th grade school teacher and founder of "Juneteenth Celebration of Freedom", an annual event which continues to expand its festival offerings, now in its 20th year.

Ann DuCharme is a recent graduate of UC's MFA program and resident of Terrace Park. She has been serving on KHAC's Development Committee as well as working as a volunteer in the Guild Shop. She is the Program Director at Baker Hunt Arts and Cultural Center in Covington.

Nativity 5th graders visited KHAC

Mindy Burger, art teacher at Nativity School, introduced her 5th grade class of 38 students to the KHAC as a field trip on two successive Fridays. Guild artist Helen Haberstroh hosted the Click Exhibition and gave a tour of the facility including the Children's Artscape room on the lower level. Enthusiastic feedback from Mindy and her students suggests that this could become an annual event.

Kids' Art from Summer Camp Special exhibit - 1st Floor Sun Porch comes home from its traveling show starting in July at Pleasant Ridge Library; Speckled Bird Café in August; HD Café in September and the KH Presbyterian Church in October. Over 30 kids came to our campus this summer for a 5 week program, sponsored in part by the Greater Cincinnati Health Foundation and directed by John Cooper. Running from Nov. 10, until mid-January.

Art Classes for Kids to Seniors Coming in January 2008

New for Teens: Teen Studio "new and experimental art for talented teens".

Programming is being planned now for real photography plus hands-on age-appropriate arts projects. After-school hours, weekdays and Saturdays will be scheduled according to interests expressed at registration time. Most classes will have a minimum number of students required for activation. Some modest fees may be required.
